Online Dating

Note to webmaster: This will be a paid service. People will have to upload their picture and profile. Once they are a member. I would like to charge them a $100 fee that is good for a year. Are you able to do auto renewal? People must be able to email each other and be able to block if someone becomes a nuisance. People also must be able to turn off service when they meet someone and/or update profile as needed. If they turn off service, but want to turn it on again within the year, they should be able to do so.

Note to webmaster: Separate by males and females.

Sample description of the type of person you are looking for:

My ideal bashert/match will be athletic and will enjoy going to theater, opera and sporting events. He/she will be honest, ethical and will like to help people. My bashert will like to laugh and will appreciate my sense of humor. We will have similar values. My bashert will need to get along with my dog/children. We must live within 10 miles from one another so we can see each other frequently.

Sample description of yourself:

I value my family and my Jewish traditions. I am not observant, but I enjoy going to synagogue, studying Torah, and singing during Friday night Shabbat dinners. I also enjoy karate and cleaning up the environment. I try to go to Israel every two years. My favorite movie is Kung Fu Panda. I am self-sufficient and own my car/house.

Service not available on this site

Note to webmaster: This information needs to be automatically posted on this page. Newest on top.

Note to webmaster: We also need wedding caterers, florists, bands, DJs, event halls, etc. to be able to advertise on this page. Advertising fee $25 per month per advertiser. Auto renewal. Will we need a limit to how many advertisers?

Note to webmaster: Engaged couples can also feature themselves for a fee at the top of this page. So we will need a special box for that. They will be able to upload their picture. $18 for this feature.

Articles

Note to webmaster: This page is intended to have featured articles in a separate box, which can be updated as I have time. I may have a blog at some point and may have guest articles if I can get information to post.

10 WAYS TO ATTRACT A DATE

There's a reason why you are on this site. You have not met a person you want to date using other ways. You may simultaneously be using dating sites and going to events, and/or asking people to fix you up. If you were successful, you wouldn't need this site.

OK, so how do you become successful? All I can do is give you tips on what may help you meet other ways. You may simultaneously be using dating sites and going to events, and/or asking people to fix you up. If you were successful, you wouldn't need this site.

OK, so how do you become successful? All I can do is give you tips on what may help you meet your bashert – the right one for you. You apply them and the rest is in Hashem's hands.

The following tips have helped me meet and get to know many nice people, and have led me to the man I am seriously involved with.

10. Smile. To quote Louis Armstrong, "Oh when you're smilin' keep on smilin'

The whole world smiles with you". It's a known fact -- people are attracted to people who smile.

9. Get a haircut; neaten your beard (males); wear makeup (females); get a new attractive; but not sexy outfit; polish your shoes. The point is for you to try to look your best. People want to know that you have made an effort to impress them, that you view the meeting of your bashert to be a serious responsibility. Sexy outfits can give the wrong impression, so can dowdy ones. If you don't know how to dress, stop by a department store and someone will be glad to help you.

8. Get over your insecurities. It doesn't matter if you are overweight or think that you are ugly. The strength of your personality and soul must shine through. And someone will be attracted to you.

7. Leave your shtick at home. Everyone has shtick. But no one other than your closest friends (and maybe not even they) want to hear about it.

6. Do not talk about your ex. This is shtick.

5. Be positive. People respond to positivity much better than negativity. In fact, a smart person will run from negativity.

4. Be a conversationalist. If you have long scorned small talk, get over it. Small talk is a great way to start talking to someone. Prepare a list of questions that you can ask someone.

3. Listen. When someone else is talking, do not interrupt. Let them finish a sentence, the word that they are trying to say, or a thought. Interrupting is a very big turn-off. If you have a habit of interrupting – break it.

2. Be friendly. Say hi to a person you do not know. Do not wait for that person to say hi to you first. If you are shy, remember that many people are shy. Someone has to make the first move, so it may as well be you.

1. Smile a lot and often. This bears repeating. A smile portrays friendliness, openness, and a willingness to meet new people. Someone will smile back at you.

10 SMALL TALK QUESTIONS

Small talk questions must be designed for people to give you more than a yes or no answer. You want them to be able to expound on their answer. Once they start talking remember to listen. Remember to say hi and introduce yourself before you begin asking questions. Shaking hands with a member of the opposite gender at a religious event is not suggested.

10. What is your name?

9. What's your connection to this event, the organizers, etc.

8. What keeps you busy when you're not at events like this or at work?

7. If you could teleport by blinking your eyes, where would you go right now? Follow up with: Why?

6. Are you working on any charity initiatives? Follow up with: What are they? Why did you choose these projects?

5. How did you come to be in your line of work? What do you like best about it?

4. What was your favorite part of today so far? Why?

3. What's the strangest thing about where you grew up?

2. What's the most interesting thing that happened at work today?

1. What does your name mean? What would you like it to mean?

These are not the only questions you can ask. There are plenty more. Just let your fingers "Google." Still scared of small talk? Let the power of your mind help you break this fear. Do a mantra 100 times a day: I will use small talk, I will use small talk, I will use small talk, I will use small talk and so forth until you believe you can do it. YOU are the little train that could.
